2. „Our everyday lives“

Lösung:

What problems do young refugees have?	What kind of help does Refugee Youth London offer?
- formal problems (filling in a form), writing a letter, a court case	„walking the path together“, act as legal advisors
- not knowing the language (English)	- help to adapt quickly, act as translators
- no friends	- act as carers

b)

School must be easier if you aren't a refugee, because you get prepared for every step from kindergarten on and don't just get thrown into it. Your peer group grows and changes with time, so your social life develops step by step. By contrast, a refugee suddenly arrives in a new country and has to build up everything from zero. My family has lived in my neighbourhood for a long time, so family-related problems can be solved inside a bigger community. A refugee, on the other hand, doesn't share this advantage. His or her family has to work together to solve their own problems. I think transport must be a real problem for a refugee. Without knowing the lines, stations, ticket rules and so on, a young refugee will probably be lost on his or her first journeys.
